

Overview

Work with one of Colombia's leading Infrastructure and PPP practices involved with a wide range of industry sectors. We advise foreign and Colombian companies on all aspects of major projects including bidding processes, performance of contracts, project finance and contractual sanctions, and assist with judicial and arbitral proceedings.

Our market-leading reputation for project finance is built on our experience working on some of Colombia's landmark transactions across a range of sectors, including the areas of energy, mining and infrastructure. We advise lenders, underwriters, sponsors, and developers, and as a pioneering law firm in financial transactions, we handle the full spectrum of structures on both the debt and equity sides.

One of our many strengths is advising the infrastructure sector. Having played a role in critical public infrastructure projects in Colombia, our Firm advises on a range of road, telecom, water and railway projects. We assist multinational construction companies, airports, and engineering consultancies and have been involved in a number of significant PPP projects to date. Our team has also advised on a significant number of major energy and power projects.

As infrastructure projects involve parties from multiple countries or jurisdictions, our global reach provides you with lawyers on the ground who fully understand the nuances of the legal and cultural differences that can affect an outcome—anywhere you do business.
