

Life Sciences and Health Care in Colombia

Overview

From corporate and transactional advice to regulatory and IP stewardship, benefit from a life sciences and health care team that has developed a successful track record advising market-leading pharmaceutical and chemical foreign clients.

Our work on behalf of pharmaceutical and chemical sector clients includes assisting with the review and negotiation of agreements with their suppliers, vendors and distributors. Also, our general corporate advice and transactional work in these sectors includes complex labor and tax assistance.

We can offer you regulatory advice, such as representing you before Colombia's health authority (INVIMA) and agricultural health authority (ICA) regarding the full life-cycle of your products, including test data protection under Decree 2085, clinical protocols, market authorization strategies, and ongoing promotion and marketing assistance to ensure compliance. We also have extensive experience with the local and regional prosecution of IP portfolios and can assist you with the management of complex IP portfolios, while advising on privacy, consumer protection, and information and technology.

We regularly assist major universities, biotechnology and medical research institutions, local and international pharmaceutical producers and distributors and chemicals companies (such as raw material, perfume formulation, food flavoring and other players in the sector).

Offering creative business and legal solutions, while being driven to provide you with the competitive edge in an increasingly complex and interconnected marketplace, rely on our global capabilities wherever you need them.
